1. Hol fishing harbor consists of two moles (daekmoler) and a harbor basin. At one occasion, approximately 100 yellow-painted Polish fishing boats were seen in the harbor. They were marked with many different home port abbreviations. It was stormy at this time they had come in for shelter.

2. The harbor area is surrounded by a fence and a barbed-wire barricade. Some large buildings, assumed to be a fish cannery, have been built.

3. The town outside the harbor area is only slightly reconstructed but several houses are inhabited even though they have no roofs.
